CARLSTADT, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1915

No. 10

A NEAR WEDDING OR CUPID REPULSED

Two young members of the Dutch Colony near Brutus, young lovers, came to Carlstadt last Tuesday with the hay excursion that was run from that point. When in town they became seized with the laudable inspiration to become "one." They started out to secure a license, but sad to relate, no one in town at present has been qualified by the Edmonton authorities to perform that delicate task. As the nearest office was Suffield, the disappointed twain postponed the ceremony for a month.

BIG NIGHT COMING

On Friday evening of next week the Adanac Minstrel will make their debut in the Adanac hall. This new organization of musicians and entertainers is one that Carlstadt will have every reason to be proud. Everyone who attends the performance is assured an evening of exceptional enjoyment. Good dance with a special orchestra in attendance, follows the show. Read the ad on the back page.

DEBATE AT TIDE LAKE

"Resolved: That the U. F. A. keep out of politics," is the subject of debate at Tide Lake on the 27th. The affirmative will be handled by Messrs Foster, Warwick and McDonald. The negative side, as we learn, is in the hands of Messrs Allen, Caines and another.

Town Safe Now Or Soon Will Be

On Tuesday afternoon, representative of the J. & J. Taylor Safe Works, of Toronto, dropped off in town and deposited one of his weighty articles to the village. Mayor McDiarmid and secretary-treasurer Starr acting on behalf of the village. So far as the News hears the safe stands at a height of 69 inches, is 39 inches across, and 28 inches in thickness. It has three compartments and will serve admirably to hold the town books and valuable papers. The actual cost of the safe is $140.00. We are informed that the terms include a small cash payment at once, and balance toward the end of 1915 and 1916. The purchase will be verified at next Monday night's meeting of the council.

NIX ON "HARD TIMES"

Frank McDiarmid on Friday last killed the "hard times" jinks and he's smiling yet. The reason? He disposed of five horses to Martin Halskov, of Brutus, for a total of $625.00. It was no "paper" sale either, over 500 in good Canadian coin going into Mac's pocket instantly. Mr. Halskov made other extensive purchases in town that day, and generally conducted himself in a fine manner. He constituted the most welcome gentleman who has been in our midst for several long-winter days.

Personal and of Local Interest

Constables McDowell and Ross, of Suffield, spent Friday last in town. That was the day the present editor of the News arrived back but we haven't found out yet who called the police.

F. Starr. It was at one time held by Roy Hamilton. Mr. Leonard has buildings all ready on the quarter and will put fifty acres in crop this spring.

Rev. F. E. Clydale will attend a meeting of the co-operative committee of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, at Medicine Hat on Friday.

N. E. Stuart had a misfortune when returning from C. F. Starr's home on Friday night. When making a turn in the deep snow Mr. Stuart's cutter upset, and a bar across the top of the cutter struck Mr. Stuart a rather severe blow just below the forehead and breaking at a small bone in his nose. Mr. Stuart states that the break is mending nicely.

Miss S. Parkkari who has been residing at Minot, N.D., is home on a vacation. She arrived on Friday night's train.

C. F. Starr's country home was the scene of a jollification last Friday night, when a crowd of friends and neighbors gathered. Games and social converse were indulged in. A fine luncheon was served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McDiarmid, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Stuart, Mrs. L. H. McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Brigham, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. R. H. Thornton, Misses Joyce Lietch and Florence Stuart, and Sanford Lietch, Enos Lietch, Harold Lietch, George Thompson, H. S. Ketchum and Burton McDiarmid.

L. H. McKinnon has rented the Lockrem farm near town for a period of three years.

The Press Representative of the C. P. R. wishes it stated that the ~~electronic~~ recently appearing in certain papers that the company would supply settlers with seed grain, is erroneous. The C.P.R. is assisting the government to do this; but is not giving out grain itself.

M. V. Wilson, manager of the Colville horse ranch, arrived here from Edmonton, Wednesday night. He wishes to "state through the columns of the News, that he has some fine teams of mares and geldings for which he will accept approved farm mortgages or other approved security. He will be at the ranch for several days.

The land of Oscar Lockrem may be rented by C. T. Hildahl.

A splendid meeting of the W.A. members and their friends took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. M. Otter, for a quilting bee. A good afternoon's work was accomplished and it will be completed at their next meeting on Wednesday afternoon, March 10 at the residence of Mrs. F. J. Basken. All women welcome.

Gus Olsen, of Tide Lake, spent Wednesday in town. He renewed his subscription to the News.

Prohibitionists Organize

Carlstadt temperance enthusiasts met in large numbers at the Methodist church on Thursday evening, R. H. Thornton presiding. During the meeting the proposed measure of prohibition to be voted on July 21st was discussed in an exhaustive manner. Rev. F. E. Clydale has made a close study of the act and answered many questions. An organization was formed with the following officers:

President: F. E. McDiarmid.
Vice-President: Chris Glede.
Sec-Treas. N. E. Stuart.

Executive: R. H. Thornton, W. J. Hall and W. Gish.

Representative to Central Committee of Redcliff Constituency to meet in Redcliff March 9th: R. H. Thornton.

AUTO GARAGE TO OPEN

Morton Peters, at the lively barn is alive to every opportunity to extend his business in Carlstadt and give his patrons the best possible accommodation. Mr. Peters' most important move in this direction is his purchase of a McLaughlin-Buick automobile from W. G. Scollard. He will, as soon as weather permits, open his auto livery. The interior of the barn has been remodelled on extensive lines and a new hay shed installed. The News wishes Mr. Peters every success in his new line of endeavor.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Gish announce the engagement of their daughter Edna, to Mr. Eustace Harris, of Carlstadt.

Next week the News will publish a business directory of Carlstadt for the benefit of the buying public. All the advertisers whose copy is in our hands by Tuesday 6 p.m. will be entitled to mention.

Follows excerpts from a letter received by D. Shields from Harry Wagner:

"To-day is the Kaiser's birthday and all the Londoners have been expecting a Zeppelin raid, but at the time of writing, nothing has happened, which is very disappointing as I would like to see one of those machines. I am not sure yet if I am going to get a commission in the army; if I do, it is hard to say when I shall be back to Canada. I have been to the War Office twice this week, and have interviewed two generals and am going to see another in Riga to-day, so that I am kept busy. But give me the good old Carlstadt. I feel more at home, and things are more of a dream, whereas here, we are up to have the real thing anyway. I had a good trip across the Atlantic as I managed to escape sea sickness, but all the same, we had some bad days. We had to wait twenty-four hours outside Liverpool as the sea was too rough for the pilot to come on board."

Polonia

C. H. Woolven, who has been spending a few days at the home of C. A. Wallace, returned to Carlstadt on Wednesday. Cloud has now changed his mind about living in the city, and says he will make his calls now quite often to the north country. He says it's a long trip to Tipperary, but it's a long way north.

M. L. Wallace, of Tripolia, called on his son, C. A. Wallace, on Wednesday last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gray spent Sunday with C. A. Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bosjolie who has been spending a few days with their daughter Mrs. Tom Gray returned to their home at Jenner on Wednesday.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1915

CARLSTADT said farewell this week to a clever young newspaper man and a good clean citizen in the person of H. S. Ketchum. The large contingent of friends who gathered at the depot Monday evening and gave "three rousing cheers" attested the fact. Glückliche Reise!

WE wish to thank you one and all, people of the good town of Carlstadt, for the kind reception accorded us on our return to Carlstadt as editor of the town paper. We have never been accused of gushing, but the pleasant word that greeted us on all sides, almost overwhelmed us. We thank you! We promise our best efforts to keep Carlstadt's publicity medium to the front.

The good people of Carlstadt and district always supported the hands of the editor, and they deserve credit for doing so. The little old rag has had many vicissitudes and a goodly number of misfortunes, but it can with truth say that since the day in bleak December 1911, when it left the press for the first time, it has never missed an issue; and every issue has been worth while from a reading standpoint. Will any reader challenge that last statement. The wheel of prosperity is turning; it will soon reach this district. In the meantime, the News will endeavor to be the same good advertiser for the Carlstadt district in the future, as is the past.

THE Crops. In the words of that good old missionary hymn, "Where every prospect pleases and only man is vile."

An Incident of the Parade

Having been a witness of the march past of the 31st Battalion, headed by Colonel Bell, I looked around at the admiring crowds. I was suddenly conscious of some one next me shaking. On turning round I beheld a man in decent attire. Looking closer, I saw on his waistcoat a string of medals. We shook hands. The excitement of the crowd was nothing compared to the emotion of that veteran. When we clasped hands again, he then turned with his eyes front and said: "There's my boy."

"THERE'S A FLAG THAT FLOATS"

There's a flag that floats in the breeze to-day,
A glorious sight to see,
Call it a rag; 'tis Britain's flag
And forever thus shall be.
Our sires of old in action bold,
Upheld its glorious name;
And we to-day, let none gainsay,
Shall ever do the same.

CHORUS

Sons of sires of noble blood,
We rally round that flag,
To prove to all the world at large
Our hearts will never lag.
That freedom, truth and honor bright
Shall ever hold the sway,
Where'er we go thro' weal or woe
The Union Jack for aye.
Let other nations try and think
They're mistress of the seas,
This flag of ours by all the powers
Shall float as proud as these.
Then remember them whose glorious deeds
Emblazoned with renown,
This flag of fame with a deathless name
Let no man haul it down.

Change in Dairy Act

Now in Force

The Dairy Industry Act, 1914, has come into force. It provides that when dairy butter is put up in blocks, squares or prints and wrapped in parchment paper, the paper shall be printed or branded "Dairy Butter" in letters at least one quarter inch square, in addition to any other wording that the butter maker may desire to use. Butter in rolls, crocks or tubs, is not required to be branded. The exact wording of the regulations that deal with this matter of the branding of dairy butter, read as follows:

"No person shall cut or pack dairy butter into squares, blocks or prints, and wrap such squares, blocks or prints in parchment paper unless the said parchment paper is printed or branded with the words, 'Dairy Butter.'"

"No person shall knowingly sell, expose or have in his possession for sale:

"(c) Any dairy butter packed in boxes similar to those used for the packing of creamery butter unless such packages are branded 'Dairy Butter.'"

"(d) No dairy butter packed, moulded or cut into blocks, squares or prints and wrapped in parchment paper, unless such parchment paper is printed or branded 'Dairy Butter.'"

Buy an Irrigated Farm FROM THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

BECAUSE

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall and insures good crops, not occasionally, but every year. Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of fodders, which insures best returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the year 1914 having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices ranging from $35 to $75 per acre, with twenty years' to pay and the privilege of a loan of $2,000.00 for improvements (6% interest); no principal payment at the end of first and second years and no water rental for first year. Assistance is also given in supplying stock in approved instances.

ELECTRIC ILLUMINATION.

The Difference Between the Arc Light and the Incandescent.
It is a curious fact that while the average man knows that, roughly speaking, there are two kinds of "electric light"—the arc light and the incandescent light—he has a hazy notion of the difference between the two.

The arc light and the incandescent light differ wholly in principle, in utility, in appearance and in the mode of use. The distinguishing difference to an ordinary observer between arc and incandescent lights may be briefly stated thus: Arc lights burn in the open air with carbon stick or pencils, the points or ends of which are heated to a white heat and gradually consumed.

Incandescent lights, on the contrary, are produced inside small glass globes of various shapes from which the air has been exhausted. These lights are caused by the passage of electricity through a fine resistance wire or thread, which is thereby raised into a "white" or incandescent light without being consumed as a result of the absence of air. If air leaks in the filament immediately burns up, and that is the end of it.

The term "arc" is an old one adopted years ago, referring to the supposed shape of an electric spark in passing from one carbon point to the other—Harpers Weekly.

BLUFFED AND WON.

A Scheme That Enabled Two to Ride on One Ticket.

There were two conductors who had been stuck in a village near Canton, with Cleveland many a mile away. And the first conductor, being, furthermore, the two and being, furthermore, what they call the "feeder" of the train, says he:

"What'll we do next?"

"I'll tell you—let's count the house."

They emptied their pockets and found that by squeezing a cent or two they could manage to buy a ticket to Cleveland—one ticket. They did it and started forth, the two grown men, on a single piece of pasteboard. Of course the conductor kicked.

"There's only one ticket here," he growled.

"That's mine," said one of the actors. "You lie—it's mine," put in the other politely.

"Well, you can't both ride on one ticket," said the conductor. "I'll have to put one of you off at the train."

"Me-me!" squealed the actors in chorus. "Put me off—go ahead and do it—I spoke first."

"Well, I can't do it here, but one of you must get off at the next station."

But three local stations passed, and the conductor didn't come back. As a matter of fact, he never appeared until just before Cleveland was reached.

"I think somebody's a grifter," he remarked in passing, "but my orders are to take the safe side when there's a possibility of mistake. Good night. I can lick either one of you if I ever see you again!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Small Boy and His Hat.

He slings his hat across the dining room when he comes in from school or leaves it in all manner of places in the house, to the coat his or to sister's bureau. He loses it just at church time and spoils the spirit of family reverence and piety. As the family enters the church the mother is being sung, and the disgrace of being late again is laid on the innocent head piece clutched in the hand of the small boy who has already forgotten the confusion of which he was the cause twenty minutes ago. In this stage also one's hat is removed on the way to school by the hand of one's bosom friend, passed down the line of surrounding boon companions, snuffed into others' pockets, while dire thoughts of ultimate loss hold one in their grip, and the reckoning to be paid at home wraps the world in tragedy.—George L. Parker in Atlantic.

The Longevity of Fish.

Fishes and animals that live in the water in many instances attain a great age. The carp has been known to live 300 years. Common river trout have been confined in a well for fifty years and were still frisky when taken from the water. The age of the whale is ascertained by the size and number of whorls in its mouth. Records show that this sea animal has attained life for 400 years. In 1897 an enormous whale was caught in a lake near Hallerum, in Swabia, with a brass ring attached to its eye, on which was a statement that the fish was put in the lake in the year 1280, thus indicating that it must have lived 367 years.

A Cold-Blooded Gambler.

The French court was at one time a hotbed of gambling. Louis XIV. would play for heavy stakes night after night, and many courtiers were ruined at his table. His successor, who lacked his predecessor's geniality and good nature, was an even greater devotee of the card table. The story is told that when this king was playing one evening a gentleman present was seized with apoplexy. M. de Chauvelin is ill, "one of the courtiers ventured to tell Louis. "Ill?" said the king, quite unmoved. "He is dead. Take him away. Spades are trumps, gentlemen."

An Insult.

"Why is Mayne so cool toward Mr. Dourville?"
"Because he made a personal remark she didn't like. He told her something was as plain as the nose on her face."
"What's the matter with that?"
"She thinks she's got a pretty nose."

Foreign Beauties.

Mr. Tallon: "I saw some dazzling pyrotechnics to-day."
Mr. Lowbrow: "Well, some of those foreign women are beautiful, but I wouldn't go so far as to call them dazzling."

To Organize for Prohibition

Rev. F. E. Clavala has been appointed to organize the five polling sub divisions in the western part of the Redcliff constituency and has planned a schedule of meetings in the following schoolhouses:
